County Launches Foster Homes Project

CHILDREN WILL BE AIDED
BY LONG-RANGE PROGRAM

A plan of the Columbiana county Department of Welfare to place "dependent and neglected" children in foster homes instead of at the Fairmount Children's home, was launched officially today by Matthew A. Curry, director.

"Children termed 'delinquent' almost always are the product of neglect or inability to provide for them on the part of the parents and need only a decent environment to pull them out of the rut," Curry declared.

A tour of the district Thursday with the welfare director, including unannounced stops at several foster homes, showed a normal, healthy group of children, ranging in age from 14 months to 15 years, all engaged in routine play or work and apparently completely at home in their surroundings.

Nine In One Home

One boarding home was caring for nine children, while others had from one to three or four laughing, cavorting kids who seemed to have entered fully into the family life.

According to Curry, under the present set up the County Department of Welfare handles completely the care and supervision of all children in foster boarding, free, wage and adoptive homes as well as being legal custodian of the county's children actually in the Children's home at Alliance, which is operated jointly with Stark county.

"However," Curry said, "placing of such children in a children's home does not necessarily provide the desired atmosphere, although the supervision of education is splendid and the child does gain a large measure of self reliance and understanding."

Proper Training Necessary

"As most of these children eventually will have a home and family of their own it is imperative that they be given the proper training and surroundings to prepare them for such a life, he continued."

In this respect Curry has been working since May 16, when the County Department of Welfare officially was organized, in an attempt to find foster homes for all of the county's children now in the Children's home. It is a long-range program.

"These children need an interested, guiding—even loving—hand to point the way for them," he declared.

"At present the Fairmount home is overcrowded and conditions do not permit the individual attention that can be given by foster parents," he pointed out.

As of Aug. 1 the county had 43 children at the Fairmount home, 51 at boarding homes at the expense of the county, 42 at free or wage homes, and was supervising the care of 17 in homes of relatives.

For boarding children foster parents are paid $30 monthly, for each child under two years of age and $24 monthly for each over two years.

For maintenance of children at Fairmount, the county pays a proportionate share of the institution's monthly bills, based on the number of Columbiana county children there.

The county also maintains a home for defective children, including mostly feeble minded youngsters, whose parents are unable to care for them in their own home. At present there are seven at the home.

Curry emphasized that when the parents of a child under county care are living and earning, they are expected, and legally obligated, to pay for the support of the children.

"A free home is where a family takes in a child at their own expense, usually just for the sake of having a child about the home," he explained.

"A wage home is where the youth is old enough to accomplish enough work to pay for his own board and to earn a sum proportionate to the work accomplished."

"Many of the children placed in foster homes are infants or young-

THREE HURT IN
LISBON RD. CRASH

Three persons were injured in a two-car and a truck accident on the Lisbon road, half mile south of Salem, at 11:22 p. m. Friday, state highway patrolmen said.

A U-Drive truck, operated by Mike Zoldak 31, of Cleveland, and travelling south on Route 45, collided with a car, operated by Ryan Snyder, 22, of Columbiana, enroute north and another, driven by John Janowski, 35, of Cleveland, which was also travelling south.

The truck overturned on the highway about 15 yards from the two cars, which met in a near head-on collision, patrolmen said.

Albert Zoldak, 16, of Cleveland, suffered abrasions of the body and minor bruises and Mike Zoldak, 11, also of Cleveland, suffered a fracture of the left leg.

Both were riding in the truck and were treated at Salem City hospital. They were later removed to a Cleveland hospital.

Columbiana Crowds
To View Old Cars

COLUMBIANA, Aug. 24—People began to flock to town early today to view the pageant of a Glidden tour re-enacted with pioneer models of a fast-developing motor age of four decades ago.

It had to be viewed in town or along the way, as public parking facilities at Firestone Farms are very limited. The Glidden tour cars will be parked in an area west of the drive, isolated from souvenir hunters, at the entrance to the grounds around the old Firestone homestead on the south side of Route 14.

The fine old brick homestead, boyhood home of Harvey S. Firestone, Sr., is headquarters for the tourists.

City officials and civic groups were invited to "open house" at the Farms this afternoon from 2 to 4.

PAPER COLLECTION
PLANNED TOMORROW

Citizens are reminded of the Junior Chamber of Commerce-sponsored waste paper collection Sunday morning.

The Jaycees will begin the drive at 9 a. m. and will collect paper and cardboard from the entire city. Instructions have been issued to place paper on front porches or sidewalks early.

WHITE FLOUR
COMING BACK

Famine Emergency 'Dark' Variety To Disappear In Three Weeks

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24—White bread and flour will replace the famine emergency "dark" variety in the nation's bakeries and grocery stores within two or three weeks.

Brewers and distillers will be allowed to increase their production Sept. 1.

The changes will result from relaxations of government restrictions imposed on the use of grains last winter to make more American cereals, available to the hungry abroad.

Beginning Sept. 1, millers will be allowed to discontinue the manufacture of "dark" flour, Secretary of Agriculture Anderson announced last night.

Since March 1 they have been required to convert 80 per cent of the wheat kernel into flour. Next month they may return to the normal 72 per cent extraction rate.

Record Crops Help

These eased restrictions were made possible, Anderson said, by this year's record crops of wheat and corn and by action of the price control board in re-establishing ceilings on meat animals. Meat ceilings are expected to prevent "excessive" feeding of grain, particularly wheat, to livestock.

Millers still must limit domestic distribution to 87 per cent of the quantity distributed in the corresponding months last year. Food manufacturers also will still be limited to the same percentage.

Liquor distillers will be allotted 20 per cent—or 500,000 bushels—more grain in September than in August.

Makers of beer and ale will be granted 21.5 per cent more grain in the September-November quarter than they otherwise would have received.

SEBRING, Aug. 24—Ray W. Hilly, former principal of the McKinley High school, will leave Sept. 9 for Dayton where he will become pastor of the Greenmont-Oak Park Community church. TURKS REJECT
RED DEMANDS
FOR DEFENSEStress United Nations
Aims In Refusing
Soviet Plan

(By Associated Press)

ANKARA, Aug. 24—The Turkish government, commenting that it was having "difficulties in understanding Soviet apprehensions" with regard to the Dardanelles, has rejected flatly Russia's demands for joint defense of the strategic strait and for narrowing control of that vital waterway to Black sea power only.

"The government of the republic is of the opinion that Turkey herself is interested in defending with all her might the country against aggression from whichever side it may come," the government said in a long note to Russia made public last night.

Unnatural Plan

"To want to reinforce the form of defense at a moment when all nations of the world compete with ardor to bring their contributions in creating an era of peace and security would be to deny the existence of the aims of the United Nations and show... distrust, the cause of which the Turkish government does not understand."

"The most sure guarantee of the security of the Soviet union in the Black sea," said the note, "resides not in a search for privileged strategic position in the strait, but in the restoration of friendly and trusting relations with a strong Turkey, which has decided to use all her forces to inaugurate this happy era but whose efforts in this sense need to be seconded by equal goodwill coming from her northern neighbor."

The reply, handed to Russia Thursday, followed precisely the lines of earlier American, British and French notes rejecting both Soviet penetration of the strait and the proposal to shut off control of the Dardanelles from all nations except those on the Black sea, to which the strait links the Mediterranean.

Cite Montreux Treaty

The latter proposal, Turkey's note said, seems "to bar in the first place the duration on Montreux (the Montreux convention of 1936 which set up control of the Dardanelles, with Turkey the guardian) which is destined to live at least until 1956," and in addition, the note continued, it seems "to want to ignore the interests of other signatory powers which have an equal right to participate in the negotiations."

The note expressed Turkey's willingness for an international conference to bring the Montreux convention up to date and urged that the United States join with the signatories of the convention in drafting a new treaty. The United States was not a signatory at Montreux.

Turkey agreed that Montreux should be corrected to conform with present technical conditions but said the need of these changes should not serve as a motive for rejecting the whole convention.

Sheriff To Curb
Drinks Near Fair

Sheriff George Hayes of Columbiana county has announced plans for a conference with Mayor G. Cecil Rauch of Lisbon early next week in regard to enforcement of the state statute which prohibits the sale of liquor within two miles of the Columbiana county fair.

The conference will be to decide the method and means of enforcing the old 19th century law. Hayes said seven taverns in Lisbon will be affected, as well as one other in Center township, all of which fall within the two-mile radius.

The statute, which was passed in 1888, was invoked by the Ohio WCTU. It will require taverns to cease sale of all liquors except 3.2 beer.

Lisbon taverns will be forced, therefore, to suspend sales for the five day period of the fair, which will run from Sept. 10 through Sept. 14.

Sheriff Hayes has indicated that he will enforce the law in the county, the only problem being that of which force of officials—county or city—are to be used in the enforcement.

BROTHER, SISTER
DIE AT PLAY IN FAMILY FREEZER

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Aug. 24—Exploring the inside of a home food freezer, a bright-eyed boy of six and his sister, five-year-old winner of a recent beautiful child contest, found death.

Trapped in the freezer, as its lid fell shut, Michael and Karen Duddy, children of Mr. and Mrs. Regis Duddy, suffocated late yesterday while a housemaid frantically searched the neighborhood for them.

Left in the maid's care while their mother visited friends and their father was at work, the brother and sister—inseparable companions—became curious about the freezer stored temporarily in the garage until workmen could be found to install it in the basement. The top of the unit had been propped open to air it.

When the father returned home and learned from the maid the two children were missing, he went straight to the garage. At once he noticed the lid of the freezer was shut.

"It was odd to see it closed," he related, deeply shaken. "I went to open it, not thinking to find anything, and they were inside."

Neighbors summoned police and a doctor who attempted to revive the children before an ambulance rushed them to a hospital. There, two hours after they were found, physicians reported them dead.

"Regrettable Incident," Yugoslav Marshal Tells Patterson

BULLETIN

BELGRADE, Aug. 24—Marshal Tito, in a written reply to correspondents' questions, today accused United States military authorities of deliberate aerial reconnaissance of Yugoslav military installations along the Italian-Yugoslav frontier.

(By Associated Press)

BELGRADE, Aug. 24—A mass grave believed to contain the bodies of all five occupants of an American transport plane shot down by Yugoslav fighters last Monday will be opened by U. S. officials today to verify a report by Premier Marshal Tito that no one parachuted from the blazing C-47.

Tito handed a note to U. S. Ambassador Richard C. Patterson at the summer resort of Bled yesterday saying there apparently were no survivors of the crash. He described the incident as a "regrettable accident," but offered no apology.

Patterson and other U. S. diplomats visited the scene of the crash yesterday and found reliable evidence that none of the American airmen managed to escape. The diplomats found pieces of flesh still hanging from trees, and charred parts of army clothing. Wreckage was scattered over a quarter-mile radius.

Ultimatum Deadline Near

The final hours, meanwhile, ticked away on a 48-hour U. S. ultimatum which will expire sometime today.

Exactly when the time runs out is not clear, but the document, demanding the immediate release of the occupants of two transports shot down over Yugoslavia this month, was delivered to Tito by Patterson some time between 2:30 p. m. and 5:30 p. m. Belgrade time (8:30 a. m. and 11:30 a. m. Eastern Standard time) Thursday.

The Belgrade radio, heard in London, said last night that the Yugoslav government "declines to acknowledge" the ultimatum, contending that "its contents have become irrelevant."

"This assertion was said to be based on the fact that nine occupants of a transport shot down Aug. 9 were released Thursday before the ultimatum was received."

However, a 10th occupant of that plane, a Turkish captain who was wounded seriously and taken to Ljubljana, still has not been released.

No Apparent Tension

There was no indication in Belgrade of any tension between Yugoslavia and the United States. Newspapers carried brief accounts of developments, but none spoke of the American note as an ultimatum.

Reports from outside Yugoslavia that Tito had rejected the American note were not borne out here.

A Yugoslav militiaman told the ambassador's party he had helped bury the five airmen in a common grave in Koprivnik. He said that the funerals were held last Wednesday, with a Catholic priest officiating.

"Two bodies were burned in parachutes," the militiaman said.

Yugoslavia military officials agreed with Tito that no one parachuted from the plane. They said, however, there was a possibility that two barrels of gasoline were jettisoned from the transport. This led to speculation that various eyewitnesses believed were floating parachutes actually were barrels.

The reply, handed to Russia Thursday, followed precisely the lines of earlier American, British and French notes rejecting both Soviet penetration of the strait and the proposal to shut off control of the Dardanelles from all nations except those on the Black sea, to which the strait links the Mediterranean.

Cite Montreux Treaty

The latter proposal, Turkey's note said, "seems to bar in the first place the duration on Montreux (the Montreux convention of 1936 which set up control of the Dardanelles, with Turkey the guardian) which is destined to live at least until 1956," and in addition, the note continued, it seems to "want to ignore the interests of other signatory powers which have an equal right to participate in the negotiations."

The note expressed Turkey's willingness for an international conference to bring the Montreux convention up to date and urged that the United States join with the signatories of the convention in drafting a new treaty. The United States was not a signatory at Montreux.

Turkey agreed that Montreux should be corrected to conform with present technical conditions but said the need of these changes should not serve as a motive for rejecting the whole convention.

When the father returned home and learned from the maid the two children were missing, he went straight to the garage. At once he noticed the lid of the freezer was shut.

"It was odd to see it closed," he related, deeply shaken.

"I went to open it, not thinking to find anything, and they were inside."

Neighbors summoned police and a doctor who attempted to revive the children before an ambulance rushed them to a hospital. There, two hours after they were found, physicians reported them dead.

Sheriff To Curb
Drinks Near Fair
Sheriff George Hayes of Columbiana county has announced plans for a conference with Mayor G. Cecil Rauch of Lisbon early next week in regard to enforcement of the state statute which prohibits the sale of liquor within two miles of the Columbiana county fair.

The conference will be to decide the method and means of enforcing the old 19th century law. Hayes said seven taverns in Lisbon will be affected, as well as one other in Center township, all of which fall within the two-mile radius.

The statute, which was passed in 1868, was invoked by the Ohio WCTU. It will require taverns to cease sale of all liquors except 3.2 beer.

Lisbon taverns will be forced, therefore, to suspend sales for the five day period of the fair, which will run from Sept. 10 through Sept. 14.

Sheriff Hayes has indicated that he will enforce the law in the county, the only problem being that of which force of officials—county or city—are to be used in the enforcement.

Result: Miss Lee is bound for New York. (International)

BROTHER, SISTER DIE AT PLAY IN FAMILY FREEZER

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Aug. 24—Exploring the inside of a home food freezer, a bright-eyed boy of six and his sister, five-year-old winner of a recent beautiful child contest, found death.

Trapped in the freezer, as its lid fell shut, Michael and Karen Duddy, children of Mr. and Mrs. Regis Duddy, suffocated late yesterday while a housemaid frantically searched the neighborhood for them.

Left in the maid's care while their mother visited friends and their father was at work, the brother and sister—inseparable companions—became curious about the freezer stored temporarily in the garage until workmen could be found to install it in the basement. The top of the unit had been propped open to air it.

When the father returned home and learned from the maid the two children were missing, he went straight to the garage. At once he noticed the lid of the freezer was shut.

"It was odd to see it closed," he related, deeply shaken.

"I went to open it, not thinking to find anything, and they were inside."

Neighbors summoned police and a doctor who attempted to revive the children before an ambulance rushed them to a hospital. There, two hours after they were found, physicians reported them dead.

LEARN TITO WILL IGNORE U. S. PROTEST

"Regrettable Incident," Yugoslav Marshal Tells Patterson

(By Associated Press)

BELGRADE, Aug. 24—Marshal Tito, in a written reply to correspondents' questions, today accused United States military authorities of deliberate aerial reconnaissance of Yugoslav military installations along the Italian-Yugoslav frontier.

(By Associated Press)

BELGRADE, Aug. 24—A mass grave believed to contain the bodies of all five occupants of an American transport plane shot down by Yugoslav fighters last Monday will be opened by U. S. officials today to verify a report by Premier Marshal Tito that no one parachuted from the blazing C-47.

Tito handed a note to U. S. Ambassador Richard C. Patterson at the summer resort of Bled yesterday saying there apparently were no survivors of the crash. He described the incident as a "regrettable accident," but offered no apology.

Patterson and other U. S. diplomats visited the scene of the crash yesterday and found reliable evidence that none of the American airmen managed to escape. The diplomats found pieces of flesh still hanging from trees, and charred parts of army clothing. Wreckage was scattered over a quarter-mile radius.

Ultimatum Deadline Near
The final hours, meanwhile, ticked away on a 48-hour U. S. ultimatum which will expire sometime today.

"Exactly when the time runs out is not clear, but the document, demanding the immediate release of the occupants of two transports shot down over Yugoslavia this month, was delivered to Tito by Patterson some time between 2:30 p. m. and 5:30 p. m. Belgrade time (8:30 a. m. and 11:30 a. m. Eastern Standard time) Thursday.

(The Belgrade radio, heard in London, said last night that the Yugoslav government "declines to acknowledge" the ultimatum, contending that "its contents have become irrelevant."

"This assertion was said to be based on the fact that nine occupants of a transport shot down Aug. 9 were released Thursday before the ultimatum was received. (However, a 10th occupant of that plane, a Turkish captain who was wounded seriously and taken to Ljubljana, still has not been released.)

No Apparent Tension
There was no indication in Belgrade of any tension between Yugoslavia and the United States. Newspapers carried brief accounts of developments, but none spoke of the American note as an ultimatum.

Reports from outside Yugoslavia that Tito had rejected the American note were not borne out here. A Yugoslav militiaman told the ambassador's party he had helped bury the five airmen in a common grave in Koprivnica. He said that the funeral was held last Wednesday, with a Catholic priest officiating.

"Two bodies were burned in parachutes," the militiaman said.

Yugoslav military officials agreed with Tito that no one parachuted from the plane. They said, however, there was a possibility that two barrels of gasoline were jettisoned from the transport. This led to speculation that various eyewitnesses believed were floating parachutes actually were barrels.

Watching Decontrol Work

The meat counters over this weekend will not be a fair indication as to what will happen under the re-applied control of meat prices. The industry practically suspended operations for several days before the decision of the board was announced because it feared that it would be stuck with meat bought at a high price and sold under OPA regulations.

The test will come when packers will have had an opportunity to resume slaughtering under the new schedules which become effective Sept. 9.

Since OPA regulation ended, the shops have been filled with meat of all kinds. If they are empty after ceilings are restored it will complete proof that price fixing means a meatless nation.

There is plenty of livestock on the farms and the ranges and it cannot be kept off the market indefinitely for after an animal has reached the marketable stage, any further feeding merely eats up the profits. Thus these animals will be slaughtered and sold and much of the success of price fixing will depend on how well the OPA is able to control the blackmarket.

It has promised an efficient and effective administration with a greatly enlarged staff. It has been given a chance to make good but most of the customers, remembering the meat famine of a few weeks ago, are keeping their fingers crossed.

The theorists tell us that if we all avoid black markets sufficient meat will be forced into legitimate channels. In theory they probably are correct but in practice it is hard to regulate the American consumers' desires and habits. Remember prohibition?

An Ultimatum In A Crisis

Most serious world crisis since the end of the shooting war is precipitated by the chain of events leading up to the American ultimatum to Yugoslavia.

It is more than a note to a second rate nation. It is notice to Russia and her bloc of satellites that this country has gone as far as it intends to go on the road of appeasement and that its toleration of Soviet excesses has reached the end of endurance.

Jugoslavia, more than any of the other satellites, is a branch office of Moscow and there is no one who doubts that Tito's actions are inspired by the Kremlin.

Unless Tito had changed his attitude and satisfied the demands contained in the ultimatum, this crisis probably would have determined whether there is any force and effect to the United Nations organization to which this country promises to refer the question unless an amicable solution is reached. If this was done and Russia exercised its veto powers in behalf of its protégé the authority of the U. N. would be facing a vital test.

The righteousness of the American cause seems to be beyond question. Two of its unarmed planes have been shot down, one with the loss of American lives, and the Yugoslav government has adopted an insolent attitude in answering diplomatic inquiries.

When nations reach the point of issuing an ultimatum, they usually are prepared to support their demands by whatever action may be necessary. It is a showdown from which no nation can recede without irreparable loss to its standing among world nations.

The situation is not hopeless but it is exceedingly grave for it will determine just how far the two world ideologies are willing to go along the narrow road between unity and conflict.

Smart, But Unschooling

It took a world war to bring educators to the admission that knowledge is not confined to the textbooks.

Service veterans throughout the nation now hold high school diplomas in spite of the fact that they have not spent the time in classrooms ordinarily required for graduation and have not obtained report card grades in all the subjects that most schools require.

The general educational development tests of the armed services answer a need which might well be extended into peacetime. These are tests worked out by some of the country's more advanced educators by which a serviceman is examined as to how much he knows regardless of where he gained his information.

It is a gruelling examination requiring two full days and covering an imposing range of human knowledge. The applicant who passes it successfully gets a high school diploma which many employers require of applicants for jobs.

The nation has had many smart men, like Abraham Lincoln for example, who educated themselves by their own study and by experience. There are youngsters today who have well developed brains although they never completed a required curriculum.

A standard high school education is to be desired but the schools would do well to perpetuate a system by which recognition can be given to knowledge which did not come from conventional courses of study.

Various Kinds of Pneumonia

BY HERMAN N. BUDESEN, M.D.
MOST people think of pneumonia, or inflammation of the lungs, as a single disease but, in reality, there are many types of pneumonia, produced by many different kinds of germs.

Pneumonias vary, too, in the way in which they affect the lungs. Since successful treatment will depend on the type present in the individual case, the doctor will first want to know what sort of pneumonia he has to deal with.

Here, the X-ray is useful. Lobar pneumonia, or the kind which affects one or more of the lobes, or large divisions, of the lungs, will show as a dense shadow on an X-ray photograph, the shadow being limited to the infected lobe. Whereas X-ray examination in a case of bronchopneumonia will depict shadows arranged like bunches of grapes here and there throughout the lungs.

Other Differences

There are other differences, too. Lobar pneumonia usually comes on suddenly, striking out of the blue, while bronchopneumonia most often begins with an infection in the nose, throat or bronchial tubes and sometimes occurs as a complication of another ill, say, measles or whooping cough.

The germs which can cause either of these pneumonias are legion, though the most frequent type of lobar pneumonia results from dirty work by pneumococcus germs. A more serious and, fortunately, more unusual form, is caused by the staphylococcus.

On occasion, the germ responsible for tularemia, an infection which may be contracted from rabbits, may cause lobar pneumonia.

Pneumococcus germs, staphylococcus, streptococcus, a germ known as Friedlander's bacillus and a great number of others may bring about bronchopneumonia.

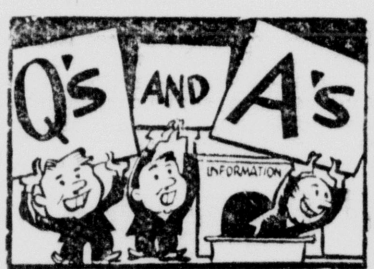

There is still another, totally different type of pneumonia, one which is caused not by a germ but by a virus, an organism so small that it can pass through the openings of a porcelain filter. This tiny troublemaker attacks the tissues in between the air-sacs and here, tell-tale disease shadows show up at the lung roots in an X-ray.

Once the type of pneumonia present is diagnosed, treatment can be decided upon. The sulfonamide drugs and penicillin have been found helpful in the treatment of most varieties, although they do not seem to have much value, if any, in virus pneumonia.

Of course, rest in bed and good nursing care are helpful.

Five Ohio Solons Oppose Weinberger Appointment

COLUMBUS, Aug. 24—The Ohio senate late Friday confirmed, 19 to 5, the appointment of Adolph Weinberger, Cleveland, head of a drug store chain, to the state board of pharmacy.

Weinberger's term will run from Aug. 20, 1946 to March 31, 1951.

Voting against confirmation were: Senators Virgil E. Cramer (R-Lucas), Raymond E. Hildebrand (R-Lucas), Roscoe R. Walcutt (R-Franklin), George G. Shurtz (R-Cincinnati), and C. Stanley Meschem (R-Athens).

Mechem said that Weinberger was the head of one of the largest drug store chains in America, and added the appointment was "not in the interest of small business men who comprise the majority of business in the United States."

There is plenty of livestock on the farms and the ranges and it cannot be kept off the market indefinitely for after an animal has reached the marketable stage, any further feeding merely eats up the profits. Thus these animals will be slaughtered and sold and much of the success of price fixing will depend on how well the OPA is able to control the blackmarket.

It has promised an efficient and effective administration with a greatly enlarged staff. It has been given a chance to make good but most of the customers, remembering the meat famine of a few weeks ago, are keeping their fingers crossed.

The theorists tell us that if we all avoid black markets sufficient meat will be forced into legitimate channels. In theory they probably are correct but in practice it is hard to regulate the American consumers' desires and habits. Remember prohibition?

An Ultimatum In A Crisis

Most serious world crisis since the end of the shooting war is precipitated by the chain of events leading up to the American ultimatum to Yugoslavia.

It is more than a note to a second rate nation. It is notice to Russia and her bloc of satellites that this country has gone as far as it intends to go on the road of appeasement and that its toleration of Soviet excesses has reached the end of endurance.

Yugoslavia, more than any of the other satellites, is a branch office of Moscow and there is no one who doubts that Tito's actions are inspired by the Kremlin.

Unless Tito had changed his attitude and satisfied the demands contained in the ultimatum, this crisis probably would have determined whether there is any force and effect to the United Nations organization to which this country promises to refer the question unless an amicable solution is reached. If this was done and Russia exercised its veto powers in behalf of its protégé the authority of the U. N. would be facing a vital test.

The righteousness of the American cause seems to be sound beyond question. Two of its unarmed planes have been shot down, one with the loss of American lives, and the Yugoslav government has adopted an insolent attitude in answering diplomatic inquiries.

When nations reach the point of issuing an ultimatum, they usually are prepared to support their demands by whatever action may be necessary. It is a showdown from which no nation can recede without irreparable loss to its standing among world nations.

The situation is not hopeless but it is exceedingly grave for it will determine just how far the two world ideologies are willing to go along the narrow road between unity and conflict.

Smart, But Unschooled

It took a world war to bring educators to the admission that knowledge is not confined to the textbooks.

Service veterans throughout the nation now hold high school diplomas in spite of the fact that they have not spent the time in classrooms ordinarily required for graduation and have not obtained report card grades in all the subjects that most schools require.

The general educational development tests of the armed services answer a need which might well be extended into peacetime. These are tests worked out by some of the country's more advanced educators by which a serviceman is examined as to how much he knows regardless of where he gained his information.

It is a gruelling examination requiring two full days and covering an imposing range of human knowledge. The applicant who passes it successfully gets a high school diploma which many employers require of applicants for jobs.

The nation has had many smart men, like Abraham Lincoln for example, who educated themselves by their own study and by experience. There are youngsters today who have well developed brains although they never completed a required curriculum.

A standard high school education is to be desired but the schools would do well to perpetuate a system by which recognition can be given to knowledge which did not come from conventional courses of study.

For Monday, August 26

Monday's astrological forecast shows the probability of some fresh ideas, or unique talent, perhaps new techniques applied to old and lagging conditions, opening the way to promotion, surprising support and approbation from those in influential places.

Originality, initiative and a shrewd new slant may open doors to welcome change and to thrilling rewards and experiences. Dare to be original and "tell it to the boss" who will respond beyond expectation.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find the thrill of clearing the decks for new adventures, a new job, strange experiences, with an uprooting of irksome conditions, born of new ways and means of handling outmoded situations.

Various Kinds of Pneumonia

BY HERMAN N. BUNDSEN, M.D.

MOST people think of pneumonia, or inflammation of the lungs, as a single disease but, in reality, there are many types of pneumonia, produced by many different kinds of germs.

Pneumonias vary, too, in the way in which they affect the lungs. Since successful treatment will depend on the type present in the individual case, the doctor will first want to know what sort of pneumonia he has to deal with.

Here, the X-ray is useful. Lobar pneumonia, or the kind which affects one or more of the lobes, or large divisions, of the lungs, will show as a dense shadow on an X-ray photograph, the shadow being limited to the infected lobe. Whereas X-ray examination in a case of bronchopneumonia will depict shadows arranged like bunches of grapes here and there throughout the lungs.

Other Differences

There are other differences, too. Lobar pneumonia usually comes on suddenly, striking out of the blue, while bronchopneumonia most often begins with an infection in the nose, throat or bronchial tubes and sometimes occurs as a complication of another ill, say, measles or whooping cough.

The germs which can cause either of these pneumonias are legion, though the most frequent type of lobar pneumonia results from dirty work by pneumococcus germs. A more serious and, fortunately, more unusual form, is caused by the staphylococcus.

On occasion, the germ responsible for tularemia, an infection which may be contracted from rabbits, may cause lobar pneumonia.

Pneumococcus germs, staphylococcus, streptococcus, a germ known as Friedlander's bacillus and a great number of others may bring about bronchopneumonia.

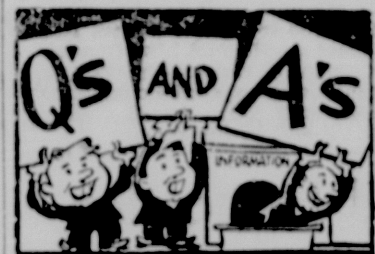

There is still another, totally different type of pneumonia, one which is caused not by a germ but by a virus, an organism so small that it can pass through the openings of a porcelain filter. This tiny troublemaker attacks the tissues in between the air-sacs and here, tell-tale disease shadows show up at the lung roots in an X-ray.

Once the type of pneumonia present is diagnosed, treatment can be decided upon. The sulfonamide drugs and penicillin have been found helpful in the treatment of most varieties, although they do not seem to have much value, if any, in virus pneumonia.

Of course, rest in bed and good nursing care are helpful.

Letters to Dr. Bundsen should be addressed in care of 235 E. 45th st., New York City.

Q—When did the first atom bomb explosion occur?

A—July 16, 1945, at Alamogordo, N. M.

Q—Why is France so anxious to annex Germany's Saar Basin?

A—The Saar's annual coal output, which has reached 15,000,000 tons a year in the past would cut France's annual coal deficit by about half. The Saar's 800,000 people, however, are strongly German.

Q—What is a STEN gun?

A—A light automatic rifle developed by the British. It fires 22 rounds at 500-550 per minute rate, weighs 8 pounds loaded.

Q—Does all ivory come from elephant tusks?

A—No. It also comes from hippopotamus teeth (they grow to 6 pounds), walrus tusks (2 feet long), Arctic narwhal tusks (6-8 feet long).

Five Ohio Solons Oppose Weinberger Appointment

COLUMBUS, Aug. 24.—The Ohio senate late Friday confirmed, 19 to 5, the appointment of Adolph Weinberger, Cleveland, head of a drug store chain, to the state board of pharmacy.

Weinberger's term will run from Aug. 20, 1946 to March 31, 1951.

Voting against confirmation were: Senators Virgil E. Cramer (R-Lucas), Raymond E. Hildebrand (R-Lucas), Roscoe R. Walcott (R-Franklin), George G. Shurtz (R-Coshocton), and C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens).

Mechem said that Weinberger was the head of one of the largest drug store chains in America, and added the appointment was "not in the interest of small business men who comprise the majority of business in the United States."

Grandfather Held In Fire Death of Wife Over Girl, 16

(By Associated Press)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 24—A 62-year-old grandfather was jailed today on a murder charge accusing him of fatally burning his wife, 61, so that he could run away with a pretty, 16-year-old blonde with whom he had been carrying on a tourist cottage tryst and exchanging love notes. District Attorney General J. Carlton Loser reported.

The accused man was Dwight Owen Carman, a solemn-faced, tall former ice company employee, whose wife of 40 years, Mrs. Melissa Carman, was cremated when flames swept their modest frame house here yesterday. Carman was taken into custody at McMinnville, Tenn., 50 miles from Nashville, after he had spent the morning arranging for his wife's funeral.

"It is my firm conviction that Carman set fire to the house to take his wife's life," said Loser. "It is indicated that the man was desperately in love with a 16-year-old girl and was planning to send her away from the city to join her later."

The attorney general identified the girl as Bobbie Ann Keith, petite sixth-grader who lived with her parents in McMinnville until she came to make her home with the Carmans here several months ago. Loser said Bobbie Ann and her 19-year-old sister, Jessie, accompanied Carman to Florida last winter.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

HOW ABOUT HOOT, THE HERMIT WHO STRAIGHT-FLUSHED YOU OUT OF ALL YOUR DOUGH? HE'S CRAZY ABOUT ANIMALS. MAYBE HE'D ADVANCE A FEW POTATOES TO US GOATS.

MY WORD, MACK! I FEAR HE HAS TOO MUCH SCROOGE IN HIM. HE DID TELL ME HE HAD $100,000 IN HIS CAVERN, BUT IT MAY HAVE BEEN HIS HILLBILLY SENSE OF HUMOR SPEAKING.

YEAH, AND IT MIGHT BE A CHANCE REMARK DROPPED BY ONE OF HIS SQUIRRELS. BUT LET'S BITE HIM FOR PRACTICE. ADDITION HIM, WITH WEBSTER'S MOST TOUCHING WORDS.

HOW DO HERMITS RESPOND TO A TOUCH?

CHASE THAT BEE OUT—DON'T JUST SIT THERE! LUELLA, YOU WATCH THERE, OR YOU WON'T HAVE TO TAKE OFF YOUR HIPS!

HAH! CHASE A BEE OUT WITH THOSE DOORS PLUGGED UP!

White Sentenced To Year In Jail

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Aug. 24—George White, 52, producer of girl show "Scandals," was sentenced here Friday to one year in the county industrial road camp and fined $600 for the "hit-run" highway deaths of a newlywed pair near here July 20.

The former wealthy Broadway theater man, who said he now had little money, was given 48 hours in which to arrange his affairs before starting the county jail term.

Superior Judge Joe L. Shell said, in passing sentence, that it was White's "failure to tell the truth" that decided the court against his plea for probation.

WHY HE KNOWS

ALL THE ANSWERS

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—

Everyone knows no one is expected to make a perfect score on the Army's classification tests so when

J. F. Price did just that when seeking entry to an officers' candidate school, the officer in charge made him take another test while the supervisor watched.

The result was the same, and fast, too.

So Price explained to the puzzled officer:

"I've been checking these test papers as an enlisted man for three years. All I have to do now is look at the question number and I know the correct answer."

HIS DREAMS

ARE FULFILLED

CLARKSBURG, Calif.—Liz Nasett, 33-year-old farm laborer, tell the need of a siesta and picked a shady spot behind a pump house on a ranch near here. He awoke in a storm of bullets. He waved frantically from around a corner of the pump house and a bullet cut off two fingers of his right hand. Three policemen visiting the ranch had decided to do a little target practice and had selected the pump house for a target.

SOLOMON'S JUSTICE

MODERNIZED

ST. ALBANS, Vt.—Judges in a bathing beauty contest counted the votes and whispered: "It's a tie between Betty Fallon and Monica

Bashaw."

They whispered again and then announced:

"Betty Fallon has been judged

"Miss St. Albans" and Monica

Bashaw "Miss Franklin County."

LUNATIC ON LOOSE

OUTSMARTS COLLEGE MEN

AUCKLAND, New Zealand—Two

Dunedin University student brothers sitting in their automobile were asked by a passerby to put a price on the vehicle.

They did, the deal was clinched and the buyer drove off. Each brother thought the other had received payment, but told police when they found neither had.

The police soon found the buyer

—he had escaped from the lunatic asylum and just wanted the car to return there. The vehicle was found parked outside the institution.

Cabas Seeks Backs As Columbiana Work Begins

Like most football coaches, Johnny Cabas of Columbiana is starting the 1946 season with his fingers crossed, but he has hopes of turning out another Clipper powerhouse this season.

With such stellar backs as Bill Newell, Bobby Hum and Carl Sheets lost via graduation, Cabas' main problem this season is one of finding suitable replacements for these men.

To date, after three days of energetic workouts, Cabas has a good quantity of backfield material under his thumb and hopes to mould a set of running and passing backs which will rival the terrific trio he had in 1945.

The line is fairly well supplied with returning veterans and Cabas is confident that his forward wall will stand up with the best.

With 35 candidates working out twice daily at Firestone park, Cabas has 11 lettermen, six of which are linemen. The five backs were men used primarily in substitute assignments last year.

Ends Don Eckenweim, Bill Poulton and Harry McBride, tackle Jim Mollenkopf, center Richard Reinhardt, and guard Charlie Clawges are the returning forward wall veterans.

In the backfield the lettermen a halfback Wayne Urschler, a fullback Halbacks Dick Perkins and Sammy Prizant and Back Bob Antram.

From the other candidates Cabas has a potential wealth of material and some lads of considerable size.

Initial workouts started things off well, play and light scrimmages opening the second day. Cabas reports that his squad seems to be in good shape for so early in the year and he expects to proceed with the training stages somewhat more rapidly than in past years.

Leetonia Whips Mullins 2-1 In Thriller As 600 See Bowling Center Massacre Potters

RUN IN EXTRA FRAME GIVES CRESCENTS WIN TO CONTINUE JINX OVER MULLINS SQUAD

Pushing over a run in the last of the eighth inning, Leetonia's Crescents won over Mullins in a thrilling game at Reilly field Friday night in the initial game of the finals in the American league Shaughnessy playoffs.

It was the third win for Leetonia over Mullins in three games.

A crowd of more than 600 fans witnessed the game and thrilled to the fine pitching of Winning Pitcher John Clunen of Leetonia, who set down the hard-hitting Mullins 10 with one hit.

His opponent, John Zines, was touched for only four hits, as he struck out 13 Crescent batters.

The two teams will tangle again at 8 p. m. Monday night. A victory by Leetonia Monday will give them the American league championship. If Mullins wins, the series will go over to Tuesday night for the third and deciding game.

Mullins took the lead in Friday's tilt in the second inning. Charlie McCloskey, leading off, was safe when Jerry Colazzi dropped his easy fly ball, and allowed him to reach second. He went to third on a passed ball and scored when Mel Wukitch bounded out.

Leetonia got their first run in the fourth as Pat Mancuso, the league's fourth hitter, led off by beating out a bunt. Glenn Otto then laid down a sacrifice bunt but all hands were safe when McCloskey's throw to second was too late to catch the flying Mancuso. Mancuso then engineered a beautiful double steal and scored when John Clunen was thrown out at first.

The game then went down to the wire as both pitchers mowed the opposing team down. Zines got out of a tough hole in the fifth when Vince Dominetti threw a strike to Mike Guappone to nail Colazzi at the plate, after he had gotten on base on an error.

The final run of the game in the last of the eighth as Colazzi led off with a single. He moved to second on a wild pitch and to third on a sacrifice. The score came when Ed Duco hit a bounding ball to Mike Oana and the Mullins second baseman threw badly to the plate.

Both pitchers had marvelous control throughout the game, granting no walks. Zines, in accumulating his 13 whiffs, twice fanned the entire Crescent side in the third and sixth innings. Clunen fanned two batters.

Joe Kelley league manager, was pleased with the turnout at the game and predicted a big crowd for Monday's tilt.

Canton Clowns To Oppose Althouse '9'

The Canton W. R. Sports have postponed their game with the Salem Althouse Dodge nine, originally scheduled to be played Sunday at Lake Placenta, because of postponement of Canton Amateur day last Sunday. The field day, in which the Sports will appear, is being held this week instead.

Substituting for the Sports will be the Canton Clowns, who have reorganized after an absence of several years from the baseball picture. The Clowns not only have a capable ball club but also put on a pleasing show for the fans, having several special acts.

John Jurkovic, star hurler on this year's Ohio U. team, or Frank Chismar will be on the mound for the Clowns. "Bus" Simpson or "Lefty" Heineman will twirl for the Dodge nine.

Another game Sunday, this one on the local Centennial park diamond, will bring together the Salem Athletics and Waynesburg in an Eastern Ohio league contest. Game time is at 3 p. m. and the starting hurler for the Athletics will be either Bob London or Walt Smith.

The same ball parks are used by both major league baseball clubs in Philadelphia and St. Louis.

CENTER WINS 14-4; CHINA BLOWS SKY-HIGH; SECOND SHAUGHNESSY FINAL MONDAY

Blowing sky-high the Salem China absorbed an embarrassing 14-4 defeat at Reilly stadium Friday night as the Bowling Center, hot-bound for the National league title in the Shaughnessy playoffs, utilized every break to walk to victory No. 1 of two needed to win.

The game moves the finals into the second stage, when the Center will again tangle with the Potters at Reilly stadium at 9 p. m. Monday, following the Mullins-Leetonia clash at 8.

The Potters literally handed the game to the Center lads on a silver platter. The dshmakers cracked wide open in the third and six innings, committing so many errors that scorekeepers nearly lost track.

In all the Potters committed 12 miscues, all in those two fatal frames, and Dale Ritchie and Orrie "Hoss" Wright were tagged hard for 14 hits by the Center men.

The game had its thrills, but they were few and far between. As lead-off man for the Center in the last half of the first, Kirby Laughlin, neat-working shortstop, laid a long fly ball into the right field stands for in the initial tally.

Another beautiful wallop was Dave Kackner's homer for the China in the early portion of the sixth. His crashing drive went deep into center and rolled far beyond Center-elder Don Long.

The Centermen sewed things up in the third when hits by Dick Hahn, Laughlin, Wayne Hahn, Johnny Hart and Jim Garrett, five China errors and two walks issued by Wright counted the six big markers.

Things went comparatively smoothly until the sixth, when the China almost got back in the ball game for a few precious seconds. Kackner's home scored Bob Laughlin before him and made it 7-4 just after Jackie Lutz had scored on a pass ball following a walk.

The Center then cut loose again in its half of the sixth, scoring seven runs on six hits and six China errors.

Dale Ritchie's never struck his old form after Kirby Laughlin's lead-off homer and was relieved by Wright in the third. Wright, however, seemed a bit wild, walking six and being tagged for 11 of the 14 blows.

Wayne Hahn performed well, allowing only six China hits, walking one and fanning a trio.

The China fielding all evening was enough to break any hurler's heart.

End Hearings On Trumbull Charges

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Aug. 24.—The state concluded today its first batch of hearing for Trumbull county liquor establishments charged with possessing slot machines, with one defendant not even appearing.

Albert C. Hilton, of Warren (Champion Heights), No. 14 on the list of 36 accused permit holders, offered no defense to the state liquor control board.

State Inspector Guy Carder said Hilton told him that the machines found in his place belonged to "John"; that he couldn't see beer, and he did not believe he cared to keep his D-1 permit longer.

Earlier, the attorney for Virginia Blahu, operator of Nick's Place at Warren, informed the board that she was on vacation when liquor agents raided her place and she had no idea how the slot machines came to be there.

The case of defendant No. 15, Matt J. Welda, proprietor of the Airborne tavern at Warren, was continued.

Decisions on the cases heard for the last three days will be handed down by the board next Tuesday.

The 21 additional cases will be heard Aug. 27, 28 and 29.

Honored By DeMolay

CLEVELAND, Aug. 24.—The Legion of Honor, the highest award of the order of DeMolay, was conferred last night on Roy L. Wildermuth, Jr. and Emerson Ogden, both of Columbus, and Joseph Snady of Lakewood at the organization's 21st annual convention here.

Vincent O. Jones of Canton, Thomas A. Miller of Ashland and William A. Lewis of Akron received the Cross of Honor.

Moran Trial Recessed

DAYTON, Aug. 24.—The armed robbery trial of George (Bugs) Moran, former Chicago gangster, Virgil Summers and Al Fouts, in recess today is expected to go to the jury of 11 women and one man Monday. The three are charged with robbing $10,000 from a tavern employee as he returned from a bank.

Car, Truck Output High

DETROIT, Aug. 24.—The car and truck plants of the United States and Canada last week turned out 91,620 vehicles to establish a new postwar high mark, Ward's automotive reports, said today.

The previous postwar high point was last week's total, revised at 88,960.

Foster Home Scene At East Palestine

sters who have not had a period in which to acquire any "undesirable" habits and are a responsibility of the county principally due to disinterest of their welfare on the part of the parents," Curry said.

Nearby Homes Sought

Most of the foster homes now are in Stark county, but the welfare director is attempting to place the remainder of the county's children at the Fairmount home in Columbiana county homes.

In his proposed foster home program Curry listed the establishment of two receiving homes near the county seat as the "first and most essential hub of the program."

One would be for boys and the other for girls where children abandoned in the county can be taken for shelter until the proper foster home can be located for them.

"These homes," he suggested, "should be large enough to provide for 10 to 15 children each. There should be a husband and wife living in the home who are capable of caring for and understanding children and their problems."

"A stay of one week to a month would enable these foster parents and the social workers from the welfare department to study the child and determine the social adjustment needed by the individual child and thus the best foster home suited to the needs of the child," Curry emphasized.

Permanent Homes, Too

Of next importance, according to the welfare director, is a system of permanent foster homes in which the children can be placed.

"These homes, depending on their size and facilities, should be able to care for six to eight children on a permanent basis," he said.

"Also, they must be a financially independent home in which the man and wife are normally adjusted to community life."

"They must first of all be desirous to offer care, supervision and affection to the children placed in their homes," Curry declared.

At the time of organization of the County Department of Welfare there was one foster home operating in Columbiana county, Curry's records show.

Since then nine have been approved for license and more are needed, he said.

Contact can be made through the department at the courthouse at Lebanon for persons interested in providing a foster home.

Comply With State Law

Prior to May 16 all of the children's services were under the direction of the Fairmount home at Alliance, but on that date the county commissioners, in compliance with a state law, formed the County Department of Welfare to co-ordinate the welfare services previously administered by the county.

This included Aid to Dependent Children, Aid to the Blind, Child Welfare Service and General Relief. Although these departments continue to operate without change they are co-ordinated into the County Department of Welfare.

The Child Welfare Service is headed by Mrs. Ann Williams, Aid to Dependent Children by Mrs. Lenna Sotherland, Aid to the Blind by Miss Mary Burneson and General Relief by Richard L. Andrus.

The director also pointed out that the county saves about $10 per month on each child placed in a foster home from the cost of maintaining them at the Fairmount Children's home.

"Every child," concluded Mr. Curry, "should have the privilege of living in a normal home—physically, morally and religiously."

Plan Dormitory Building

At the Friday afternoon session the Representative body presented tentative plans for building a dormitory on the property west of the Yearly meeting grounds. This project was approved by the Yearly meeting.

Since the last session of the meeting this body purchased Frances Moore property at a cost of $5,600. It is located directly west of the church property.

The dormitory is to be 80 by 30 feet with a wing 30 by 30 feet. The basement is to be equipped with a kitchen, a dining room with a seating capacity of 250, and a rest room. The first floor is to have sleeping rooms with a five room apartment for the caretaker and the second floor is to have sleeping rooms. Each floor is to have rest rooms.

Plans call for a frame building, plastered throughout, with a roof of the best grade shingles. The maximum cost is to be $40,000.
